Compensation Paid to Charles Schwab Bank and other Service Providers

Introduction

The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 as amended (“ERISA”), requires employee benefit plan fiduciaries to act solely in the interests of, and for the exclusive benefit of, plan participants and beneficiaries. As part of that obligation, plan fiduciaries should consider cost, among other things, when choosing investment options for the plan and selecting plan service providers.

The information in this report is provided by Charles Schwab Bank (“Schwab Bank”) to the fiduciaries of plans that invest in the Schwab Bank Collective Trust Funds (the “Schwab Bank Funds”). As a Covered Service Provider, Schwab Bank is required under ERISA Section 408(b)(2) and US Department of Labor (“DOL”) regulation 408b-2 to provide this information to assist the responsible plan fiduciary in making informed cost-benefit decisions with respect to your plan. This report is not legal advice nor a summary of regulatory requirements, and is subject to update or change.

In general, a Covered Service Provider is a service provider that enters into a contract or arrangement with a plan and reasonably expects $1,000 or more in compensation, direct or indirect, to be received in connection with the following services:

- Services provided directly to a plan as a fiduciary or registered investment advisor
- Services as a fiduciary to an investment contract, product or entity that holds plan assets (e.g., a collective trust fund) in which a plan has a direct equity interest
- Certain recordkeeping or brokerage services
- Other services for indirect compensation such as audit, accounting, legal and valuation

Compensation is anything of monetary value (for example, money, gifts, awards and trips), but does not include non-monetary compensation valued at $250 or less, in the aggregate, during the term of the contract or arrangement.

Direct Compensation is compensation received directly from the plan. Any fees paid directly from plan assets are considered direct compensation, as is any compensation that is paid by the plan sponsor but is later reimbursed from the plan.

Indirect Compensation is compensation received from any source other than the covered plan, the plan sponsor, the covered service provider, or an affiliate. Compensation received from a subcontractor is indirect compensation, unless it is received in connection with services performed under the subcontractor’s contract or arrangement. The compensation outlined in this document is indirect compensation. Schwab Bank charges an annual trustee fee equal to the expense ratio on all assets within the Fund (“Expense Ratio”).

This report details the fees your plan currently pays for services provided by Schwab Bank, as trustee and manager of the Schwab Bank Funds, and provides disclosure regarding certain sub-advisory arrangements.

We have tried to make the report as comprehensive and easy to understand as possible. Please remember that fees can change based on changes made to your plan investments, services we provide, transactions that take place in your plan and other factors. We will notify you of changes to the Expense Ratio compensation as soon as practicable, but not later than 60 days after a change has occurred.

Non-monetary Compensation

Schwab policy prohibits employees from accepting non-monetary compensation, as that term is defined under ERISA 408(b)(2). For purposes of 408(b)(2), non-monetary compensation does not include gifts or other items of value received by Schwab employees directly from the plan sponsor. As a result, it is not anticipated that non-monetary compensation received by Schwab as a covered service provider for your plan will exceed the minimum threshold of $250 over the term of the contract or arrangement which would require disclosure under the regulation. In the event Schwab employees receive non-monetary compensation which is required to be disclosed under the regulation, such amounts will be disclosed accordingly.
